

Plank Truman Does Not Like Up Next Week

Washington, July 20 (AP)—President Truman's challenge to Republican lawmakers to carry out their party's 1948 platform gives them a chance to nail down one plank he doesn't like.

This is a bill declaring that the states hold clear title to the oil-rich coastal lands lying in a three-mile belt beyond low tide mark.

The bill already has been passed by the House, and during the closing weeks of the regular session was on the Senate Republican policy committee's list of desirable measures. It was crowded out in the final days, however, because of a threat of lengthy debate.

The Republican platform called for action to give the so-called tidelands to the states. The Democratic convention, despite agitation for a similar plank from the Texas and California delegations, remained silent on the point.

The administration is opposed to any such move.

But the fight actually spreads across party lines. Such Republican senators as Donnell of Missouri and Tobey of New Hampshire are strongly opposed to it. On the other hand, Democratic senator McCarran of Nevada and Downey of California are among its most ardent supporters.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, the GOP vice-president nominee, has taken a leading role in the campaign for congressional action, thus putting the issue into the top campaign level.

Sponsors of the legislation contend that the states always considered that they held title to their tidelands until the federal government first asserted it in the late 1930's.

The supreme court last year ruled that California did not hold title to its submerged lands, but it left undecided exactly what rights the federal government has. The 79th Congress passed a bill giving the land to the states, but Mr. Truman vetoed it on grounds the high court still was considering the issue.

On the broader issue of rising living costs—which will be one of the most hotly debated subjects of the coming session—a Dixie Democrat offered this advice to Mr. Truman: either go all out in restoring controls or leave things as they are.

Draft Registration To Start On Aug. 30

Washington, July 20 (AP)—President Truman today issued a proclamation calling for the draft registration to start Aug. 30.

On that date, persons born in 1922 after Aug. 30 will register. The proclamation also fixes the following dates for the registration of other youths between the ages of 18 and 26:

1. Persons born in the year 1923: Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.
2. Persons born in the year 1924: Sept. 2 and Sept. 3.
3. Persons born in the year 1925: Sept. 4 and Sept. 7.
4. Persons born in the year 1926: Sept. 8-9.
5. Persons born in the year 1927: Sept. 1-11.
6. Persons born in the year 1928: Sept. 13-14.
7. Persons born in the year 1929: Sept. 15-16.
8. Persons born in 1930 before Sept. 19; Sept. 17-18.

Boys born on or after Sept. 19, 1930, under the proclamation, will be registered on the day they are 18 years old or within five days thereafter.

The president's proclamation called on the governors of each of the states and the territories of

European Aid Costs Taxpayers 6 Billion

Sacrifices For Foreign Relief Detailed

Washington, July 20 (AP)—European aid is costing Americans more this year than the total outlay for schools, police and fire protection and similar local services.

Paul C. Hoffman, who is directing the European recovery program, made this assertion today in a radio address to be beamed to Europe by the World Wide Broadcasting Foundation.

The economic cooperation administrator, striking back anew at Communist criticism of the aid venture, declared:

"No Communist claim has been more ridiculous than the charge that we are dumping surpluses on Europe."

"Foreign aid is costing the United States six billion dollars this year. This * * * is more than the amount spent by all the cities, towns and villages in the United States for fire protection, police, schools, sanitation, parks and similar local services."

Congress set aside $5,055,000,000 for the European recovery phase of the program. New dollar investments in that program now have pushed the six-month total toward the half-way mark.

Stock Market Picks Up After Mauling

New York, July 20 (AP)—The stock market rallied decisively today after a three-day mauling that reached a climax yesterday with the sharpest decline in nearly two years.

Rails and oils led the way with gains ranging to more than a point. Superior Oil of California, which plunged 20 points Monday, rebounded 6.

After a fast opening, in which numerous big blocks of stock changed hands, activity slackened a bit although still going along at a good clip.

GOING TO PETOSKEY

Petoskey, July 20 (AP)—Henry La Fountain, general superintendent of the Marquette City Electric department since 1943, has been engaged as chief operator of the new Diesel power plant expected to be placed in operation here late this summer, city officials announced today.

Conference Called To Head Off Strike Of 116,000 At Fords

Detroit, July 20 (AP)—Conferences aimed at preventing a strike of 116,000 Ford Motor Co. employees were resumed today for the first time since July 14.

Company officials met with the CIO United Auto Workers but recessed for lunch without comment.

Both parties agreed Monday to resume negotiations after the UAW-CIO executive board unanimously authorized a walkout at Ford.

A telegraphed appeal from UAW President Walter P. Reuther to Henry Ford II for further sessions brought immediate acceptance from the young automobile executive.

Indications that the union was banking strongly on the new meeting came from the lack of large-scale preparations which normally precede a major walkout. Union sources said usual pre-strike assignment of picket details and establishment of soup kitchens had not begun.

Western European Leaders Worried Over Berlin Crisis

Food By Air Not Needed, Soviets Say

They Can Supply All Of Berlin, Reds Claim

By The Associated Press

Russia with great propaganda fanfare said today she has made 100,000 tons of grain available to feed Berlin, including the blockaded western area.

The 2,000,000 Germans in the U. S. British and French zones must pay for such bread with Russian-sponsored currency, the Kremlin ruled in what seemed an attempt to convince Germans the new western currency is no good.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the U. S. military governor, expressed skepticism, saying "the proof is in the performance, not in the statement." A native Berliner put it this way:

"So the Russians offer us food when they have shut it off from western Germany. They say it is Russian grain sent from the Soviet union. But what about the low rations the 16,000,000 Germans in the Russian occupation zone have endured? What about the millions of tons of food the Russians have taken out of their zone and shipped to Russia?"

Shoppers Get Nothing

The Soviet food was not available for the present. Shoppers sent into the Russian sector of the city to buy rationed foods found that storekeepers refused to honor their coupons.

It was held likely the Russians would put a limited amount of food on the market for its propaganda value, but not enough to supply all needs.

The air lift continued. Russian Yaks have buzzed the British air-drome and some of them performed acrobatics in the U. S. corridor. About 1,500 tons of food were flown in. Coal was the crux of the problem though. Already about 1,000 Berlin plants have shut because of its lack. U. S. experts said 200,000 persons may be jobless in Berlin by Saturday.

The Russians closed to all west-bound traffic the superhighway leading from Berlin to the western zones. The western Allies told the people of Berlin they were unable because of the blockade to increase food ration scales.

Southern Democrat Leader Spurns Aid Of Rabble-Rouser

Columbia, S. C., July 20 (AP)—The presidential candidate of rebelling Southern Democrats, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, predicts the states' rights advocates will carry most of the south and do not need the help of Gerald L. K. Smith to do it.

Thurmond flatly refused an offer of support yesterday from the Christian Nationalist party headed by Smith.

Thurmond emphasized in an interview that the states' rights movement "is not based on racial hate nor on racial prejudice."

When informed of Thurmond's statement, Smith said at Birmingham, Ala., that he was "amazed that Thurmond fails to realize that the racial issue is the issue in the southern revolt."

Thurmond's disavowal of Smith's support was in these words: "We do not invite, we do not need, the support of Gerald L. K. Smith or any other rabble rousers who use race prejudice and class hatred to inflame the emotions of our people."

Sleuth Who Snared Al Capone Is Dead

Washington, July 20 (AP)—Elmer L. Irey, who snared Al Capone and many another public enemy for tax evasion, is dead.

The 60-year-old former chief of the treasury department's law enforcement agencies succumbed to a heart attack late yesterday at his summer home in Shadyside, Md.

During his 40 years in government service, Irey played a major role in recovering millions of dollars from income tax dodgers, big and small.

He created the Bureau of Internal Revenue's Intelligence unit in 1919 with only five investigators. When he retired in 1946 there were over 1,300 trained sleuths working under his direction.

Dispute Topples French Cabinet

BY ROBERT EUNSON

Paris, July 20 (AP)—Communists proposed today that their leader, Maurice Thorez, be designated the new French premier to head a coalition government of Socialists and Communists.

Thorez was the first majority party leader to call on President Vincent Auriol, who is searching for a new premier. France's middle-of-the-road government, headed by Robert Schuman, toppled last night after a dispute over the army's budget.

There was no immediate prospect of Thorez being invited to share in the government. He called on Auriol first because the Communist party has the largest representation in the national assembly. They and affiliated groups have 186 out of 618 deputies. They were not represented in the last cabinet.

Following Thorez was Andre Colin, secretary general of the Popular Republic, an (MRP) group with 153 members in the assembly. Schuman is a member of the MRP, and many believe he will be called upon to form a new cabinet.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, also a Popular Republic, was hurrying back to Paris from Hague, where he attended the meeting of the five-power Western European Union.

Auriol was expected to try to find a premier who could reunite the "third force" coalition of Popular Republicans, Socialists and Radical Socialists. Under Schuman's leadership they had opposed the Communists on the left and Gen. De Gaulle's French People's party on the right.

Chicago's Railroad Fair Opened Today

Show Covers 50 Acres, Mile Of Lake Front

Chicago, July 20 (AP)—The Chicago Railroad Fair, a huge display of rail transportation covering 50 acres along a mile of Lake Michigan shore, opened today in the nation's biggest rail center.

The exposition, sponsored by 38 of the nation's carriers, commemorates the 100th anniversary of the first steam train from Chicago. It also marks the centennial of the joining by rail of the east and west.

Exhibits depicting the growth of the railroad industry in 100 years, pageants and special side shows are part of the fair. Sponsors describe the fair as the biggest show ever produced by any industry and as a miniature world's fair. Companies that service and supply the carriers also are participating in the fair.

The fair grounds, about one-fourth the size of those used for a Century of Progress in 1933 and 1934, extend along the lake shore from 20th to 30th street south.

The fair will continue for six weeks. Officials predict an attendance of 2,000,000. It will be open daily from 1 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.

Featured performers of the fair are 19 old-time locomotives and trains dating back to 1829. The pageant is shown on a 450-foot outdoor stage, which bears three full-size railroad tracks. Also included are 220 performers, 800 period costumes, and such props as the world's first automobile and 100 horses and oxen.

Truman And Dewey To Meet At Airport Dedication July 13

By The Associated Press

The non-political dedication of New York's new international airport will bring President Truman and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey together next week for a rare campaign year meeting of presidential candidates.

Both will speak briefly during the half-hour ceremony at the Idlewild Field a week from Saturday.

A White House announcement of the event said Mr. Truman's off-the-cuff speech will be one "suited to the occasion."

But that may be one of the few truces in the long political war ahead for the President and his Republican rival for the White House.

Dewey, already at work mapping his battle strategy, plans a luncheon huddle tomorrow with Harold E. Stassen, the former Minnesota governor who contested with him at the GOP convention this month.

Stassen accepted the Dewey invitation by telephone. He already has promised to campaign actively for the New Yorker.

Dewey talked last week with Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, another disappointed aspirant for the GOP nomination.

Mr. Truman, meanwhile, concentrated his activities on the special session of Congress he called for next Monday with a challenge to the Republican lawmakers to deliver on GOP platform promises.

The White House said yesterday the President will renew most of his 1947 cost-of-living program, this time in the form of a definite bill.

American Is Stoned To Death In Cairo

Egyptian Mob Attacks Tourist; Wife Unhurt

Washington, July 20 (AP)—An American citizen was stoned to death by an Egyptian mob in Cairo last Sunday, the state department announced late yesterday.

Stephen Haas, 53, a Philadelphia real estate man, was set upon while visiting the city as a tourist with his wife, Press Officer Lincoln White said. The U. S. embassy in Cairo reported several Egyptian companions of the couple, as well as members of a British family, were hurt by the mob.

Mrs. Haas apparently escaped injury.

Haas, a native of Hungary, entered the United States at the age of three, and became a naturalized citizen. His wife, the former Kathryn Waynes of Philadelphia, was chairman of the women's division of the treasury department's war finance committee during World War II.

Haas was a Jew, but a business associate in Philadelphia said he took no part in Zionist activity and was not active in religious affairs.

Wages Up 13 Cents At Republic Steel

Third Largest Producer Gives 55,000 Raise

Pittsburgh, July 20 (AP)—Republic Steel Corp. of Cleveland, the nation's third largest producer, has granted a 13-cent hourly wage increase to 55,000 production workers, President Philip Murray of the CIO-United Steelworkers announced.

Murray said the Republic agreement was made yesterday under the same terms as the wage boost reached with U. S. Steel last Friday. U. S. Steel granted hourly wage increase of 9 1/2 to 25 cents, averaging 13 cents.

The U. S. Steel contract also was extended to April 1950, with a wage reopening clause effective in July, 1949.

In addition to Republic and U. S. Steel, Weirton Steel Corp. has granted a 14-cent hourly wage raise and Bethlehem Steel Corp. gave its workers a 13-cent hike.

Meanwhile, the Steelworkers union was scheduled to resume negotiations today with Youngstown Steel and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

The Republic pact brought to 400,000 the number of workers in the basic steel industry granted increases since last Friday. Approximately 900,000 workers are expected to be covered when negotiations have been completed with all the basic and fabricating steel companies.

Stassen Lends Hand In Dewey Campaign

Pawling, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen is headed here to lend a campaign hand to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The former governor of Minnesota is flying today from St. Paul to New York City, and tomorrow he will motor to Dewey's Pawling farm for a luncheon conference with the Republican presidential nominee.

Stassen, an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination, said last night at St. Paul that Dewey had telephoned to invite him for the conference.

Nations See War Threat In Blockade

No Solution Found Yet For Russian Bluff

Frankfurt, Germany, July 20 (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. commander in Germany, was summoned to Washington today to report on the Berlin crisis.

Clay will fly from Frankfurt tonight or tomorrow, accompanied by his political adviser, Ambassador Robert D. Murphy.

BY LOUIS NEVIN

The Hague, The Netherlands, July 20 (AP)—Western European leaders have advised extreme caution in dealing with the Russians over the Berlin blockade. Informants say they consider the crisis "extremely grave."

An authoritative source said representatives of Britain, France, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg—the nations making up the Western European Union—met for four hours last night, but reached no agreement on a course of action in the Berlin situation.

The five-nation alliance is meeting here to set up a common defense linked with American armed might. The delegates have before them a series of memoranda on recent talks in Washington between western European representatives and U. S. government officials on possible American military aid.

May Merge Defenses

The conference on the Berlin deadlock was attended by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, Belgian Premier Paul-Henri Spaak, Luxembourg Premier Pierre Dupong, and Dutch Foreign Minister Baron Van Boetelaer Van Oosterhout.

A conference spokesman said all phases of the situation resulting from the blockade and the possibility of increasing the American-British air lift were discussed.

The informant said the five officials take an extremely grave view of the Berlin crisis and will discuss it again today.

He said they will also talk over the possibility of forging their armed forces into one defense weapon. A report on the question has been prepared by the union's military committee.

The main aim of the conference is to straighten out the five-nation 50-year alliance and consider the possibility of basing it on definite commitments of American Military assistance.

The caution proceeds from a recent incident where a man tore up a section of Second avenue south in the 1200 block while repairing a sewer, without permission from the city.

Red And Jack Pine Near Cooks To Get DDT Spray By Airplane On Thursday

In an effort to wipe out the Saratoga spittlebug, a sap-sucking insect which wholly or partially kills the tree it attacks, the U. S. Forest Service will spray a DDT liquid oil solution by airplane over red and jack pine trees in a 480-acre tract in the Hiawatha National Forest, eight miles northwest of Cooks Thursday.

This work will be done by an aerial spraying company of Decatur, Ill., over a particularly hard hit area. Their services were contracted by the U. S. Forest Service. A twin-engine plane will be used for the job. It will be based at either the Steuben airport four miles north of the area or at the Schoolcraft county airport in Manistique.

"This will mark the first time that trees in the Upper Michigan National Forest have been sprayed by airplane," it was explained by Ray W. Knudson, of Escanaba, timber management staff assistant of the U. S. Forest Service here. "Airplane spraying has been used successfully in Wisconsin during the past two years. The plane will fly approximately 50 feet above the tree tops and spray approximately one gallon per acre over the trees which have been hit by the Saratoga spittlebug."

Knudson said that because the spittlebug is a sucking insect, a contact spray of this type must be used. A poison spray would not be sufficient. Poison is used to combat "eating insects." The control of such insect pests, he explained, is the responsibility of the Forest Service.

Balloons inflated with hydrogen to about 30 inches in diameter are ordinarily used to guide pilots in flying each swath, it was pointed out.

"Weather conditions permitting, the work will be done Thursday," he said. "It has been the experience elsewhere in the past that the early morning hours of from five to eight are best. As soon as there is evidence of a slight breeze, and the spray begins to drift, operations must be discontinued."

"If weather conditions permit, it is expected the work can be completed Thursday."

Sale Of Institutions' Purebred Cattle Nets $13,945 At Fairgrounds

Bidding on purebred Holstein cows offered at auction at the fairgrounds yesterday was brisk and a total of $13,945 was collected from the sale of 46 head of cattle, selected from the herd of 2700 owned by Michigan institutions.

Cyril LaTendresse of Chassell, Mich., was one of two men paying the highest price at the auction. LaTendresse bought a heifer from the Marquette prison farm for $625. Waino Sulin also led the list of high bidding with $625 for a heifer consigned by the Traverse City State hospital.

Lowest price on any sale was $170 for a seven-month old heifer calf. Average sale price was $309.88.

Chassell Man Big Buyer

Cyril LaTendresse of Chassell was the largest buyer at the auction, buying a total of nine head.

Charles Figy, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, told buyers, in his opening speech, that the population of cattle was down and that a great future lies before the dairy industry. He cited that in the past 30 years no increase has been made in the per capita production of milk, whereas in metropolitan centers the demand for milk per capita has increased, by at least one-third.

At the auction yesterday, many Upper Peninsula veterinarians, agricultural directors and other farm directors were present. Among these was Charles Brace, officer of the U. P. Dairy Breeders Association, who told the assembled farmers that now was a good time to cull their herds when the price was good, and to replace them with purebred livestock. He also stressed the increasing demand, in states south of Chicago, for good breeding animals.

A herd of 50 head was assembled in Escanaba for this third semi-annual Michigan State Institutional registered Holstein heifer and bull sale. Three bulls and 43 heifers were sold yesterday. Two bulls and two heifers were injured by fire Saturday evening and were not sold.

Sale Was Satisfactory

Michigan State sanatorium in Howell, Ionia State hospital, Michigan State Reformatory in Ionia, State Prison of Southern Michigan in Jackson, Kalamazoo State hospital, Lapeer State Home and Training school, State House of Correction and Branch Prison at Marquette, Pontiac State hospital and Ypsilanti State hospital consigned cattle for the sale. The herd here did not represent the top head in the state herd, largest in the United States, but were of good background and all were registered and tested.

"The sale here was very satisfactory," Alton B. Clark, coordinator of the Bureau of Institutional Farms in the Michigan Department of Agriculture said. "Upper Michigan farmers, who have now been offered a chance to buy these cattle for a second time, are wise to replace and build their herds around good breeding and producing animals."

J. O. Enstemaker of Homer, Ohio, auctioneer of the cattle. Late yesterday he said that the sale was very good, but remarked that in Ohio and other regions the same cattle would have sold at a much higher price.

In response to several queries, Charles Figy reported yesterday that he has not noticed any fluctuation in the sale of bulls due to the artificial insemination program.

"An increased demand," he said, "for better purebred cattle has off-set any slowing in the market for bulls, due to the program."

KAISER

FRAZER

In just two years we've built and sold more fine cars than any other new manufacturer in automobile history.

Why? Because America fell in love with the KAISER and the FRAZER on sight. Folks are streaming into Kaiser-Frazer showrooms and learning from present owners how dependable these two great cars are. They're learning — from people who drive them — how soundly they are built . . . how economical they are . . . how much joy there is in owning one.

THESE ARE THE MOST-COPIED CARS IN AMERICA, road-proved by 250,000 owners in two billion miles of driving.

Because plenty of Americans insist on comfort, convenience, style and value, traditional leaders had to "move over" — as Kaiser-Frazer became the fourth largest manufacturer of motor cars in the world in two short years.

Why wait? Enjoy your new car this summer. You'll get fair treatment and highest trade-in allowance.

In Circuit Court

EIGHT criminal defendants, all of them convicted of felonies by their own pleas of guilty, were before Judge Glenn Jackson for sentencing in Delta county circuit court Monday morning. Four of them were given prison sentences varying from one to five years. The remaining four were placed on probation and given a new chance to become useful citizens.

Those who were present in the courtroom and heard Judge Jackson pass sentence upon the eight defendants must have been impressed, as we were, with the sincerity and sound judgment of the court in determining what course of action to take in each individual case.

To the four defendants placed on probation, Judge Jackson emphasized that their crimes are of a serious nature but that he felt the interest of society would best be served by offering to these young men an opportunity to straighten out their lives. To one defendant whose record as a minor was particularly bad, the judge pointed out that the terms of probation will be rigidly enforced and the first misstep will result in a prison sentence. All four were given to understand in simple but effective language that they now possess the duty to write their own ticket, either on the road to lawfulness and happiness or on the road to crime, grief and prison.

The four defendants who were sent to prison all have had a similar chance to straighten out their lives and failed to do so. Each has been before the bar of justice on previous occasions. It was obvious that Judge Jackson was unhappy about the obligation that rested upon him to send these men to prison for the protection of society. And yet there was no other logical, reasonable course of action. Judge Jackson recommended that the youngest of these men, a boy still in his teens, be sent to the Cassidy Lake institution for training at a trade school, rather than to be confined with the hardened criminals of the state prison at Marquette.

In the comparatively brief time that Mr. Jackson has served as circuit judge, he has more than justified the faith and confidence that the voters placed in him.

Your Railroads

SERVICES which vitally affect our well-being often go unrecognized—simply because we don't patronize them directly, and accept them without thinking.

For millions of people, railroad freight service falls into that category. Last year, for instance, you may not have shipped or received a single package which moved by rail. Yet the American railroads hauled for you—and for every other American—an average of over 10 tons of freight for an average distance of more than 450 miles.

That total was made up of your food, your clothing, your fuel—the thousand and one things you used during 1947. It was almost half again as great as the heaviest volume handled in any previous year. And the railroads hauled that freight for an average rate of just over a penny per ton-mile!

There has been a good deal of criticism of the railroads—some of it obviously put out to serve special interests with an axe to grind. It has been said, for instance, that the lines have been too slow in ordering new equipment. The truth is that they have enormous amounts of equipment on order and it is going into service as fast as manufacturers can deliver it. Like all other business, the railroads have been vexed with shortages. But, as they steadily improve their facilities, they are making every piece of equipment do full duty—which is why they are handling a record peacetime volume of business with an amazingly small number of delays and dislocations.

We will have better railroads—indeed, they are getting better almost daily. And that is happening because free enterprise, in a competitive system, can never stand still. It must always go ahead.

Ruhr Steel Output

PRODUCTION of coal and steel in the German Ruhr has shown a substantial decline over a year ago, announcement of which is good news in this country as well as to the nations of Eastern Europe. Moreover, the dismantling of German industrial plants for reparations payment has virtually ended which means that the remaining industrial capacity can be used for the economic recovery of Europe and Germany.

Productive capacity of Germany, of course, has been sharply reduced from the war days when German industry was geared to Hitler's frantic efforts to enslave the world. Occupation authorities have pledged that Germany never again will be permitted to develop its productive weapons to the point that Germany will become a threat to the peace of the world.

It has been recognized, however, that sufficient capacity for the production of coal and steel in the German Ruhr is essential for the economic recovery of the European continent. The European nations depend upon these facilities to develop economic self-sufficiency. It is important, too, from the standpoint of the American people who are now paying heavily for goods being shipped to Germany from this country.

U. N. Gains Prestige

THE Arabs and Jews have acceded to the demands of the United Nations for a resumption of the truce in the Holy Land. The action of the U. N. security council in ordering that the Jews and Arabs lay down their arms while negotiations develop for settlement of the Palestine war constitutes the most vigorous action taken thus far by the international organization.

The prestige of the United Nations has been enhanced materially by the security council's initial success in the Holy Land controversy. The cease-fire order of the security council was no empty gesture. The council was prepared to back it up with economic blockade and other measures, even armed force, if necessary.

It is unfortunate that the security council's order for a truce in Palestine did not receive more generous support from the council members. Seven votes, the barest minimum, put the order into effect and Soviet Russia dodged the issue entirely. The Soviets did not veto the proposal but the Russian delegate on the security council failed to vote at all on the cease-fire ultimatum.

The truce, of course, does not guarantee a peaceful solution of the Palestine situation. A previous truce gained almost nothing in efforts to find a basis for settlement of the Holy Land war. Nevertheless, it is generally agreed that there is more hope of reaching a settlement under peaceful conditions than when the two sides are bitterly engaged in open warfare.

NORWAY DOES IT

(Iron Mountain News)

The city of Norway has, by a comfortable margin of votes, adopted the council-manager form of government. Designed to meet current needs in city management, the council-manager plan is a forward step for Norway. Likewise, with Kingsford already under council-manager, it leaves Iron Mountain as the only city in the county with the old, outmoded mayor-alderman plan.

Just how long this situation will maintain rests with the people of Iron Mountain. If the current aldermanic form is giving them everything they want in city government, then there will be no change. If, on the other hand, this city follows the very definite trend, all over the country, to meet changing conditions in city government, there will be a revision.

Success of the election in Norway goes back to the Community Betterment Institute held last February in Iron Mountain, when consultants from various state departments came here to conduct panel discussions on various community topics—among them, city government. As a direct result of these discussions, there was organized in Norway a study commission to obtain information and prepare a survey on the council-manager plan. The study group lost no time in getting at it. It came up with the proposal for the council-manager plan which was placed before the people of Norway in a series of news stories and advertisements, and otherwise promoted, at home. The result was a favorable vote last Monday, on the issue.

The weather, these days, is one of the main things discussed—and you can safely drop the "dis."

Two sisters in Missouri married two brothers, making them sisters-in-law. Now they can fuss more than ever.

Take My Word For It . . .

Frank Colby

PET SPEECH PEEVE

K. Louise Boynton, of Columbus, Ohio, will receive an autographed copy of my Handbook for expressing her Pet Speech Peeve in this linerick:

Whenever I hear "I feel badly,"

It makes me so all-over sadly,

My teeth grind and grit,

And, I'm frank to admit,

Though unladylike, I feel madly.

For many years I have pointed out the error of "badly" in such constructions as, "Don't feel badly about it; I feel badly today; she looks badly," etc. Perhaps the error is not as common as it once was; but by no means is it on the way out. So let's try again for a few new verses.

The errors "feel badly, look badly" are the result of confusing the two meanings of "feel" and the two meanings of "look." "Feel badly" (badly is an adverb) means literally to have a defective sense of touch, as from paralysis or damage to sensory nerves. To "look badly" means that one's sight is impaired and one needs corrective glasses.

On the other hand, to "feel bad" means that one either feels ill, or has a feeling of sadness or regret. To "look bad" means that one's appearance is below par because of illness, fatigue, or some other cause.

No one would think of saying, "I feel badly; I feel madly; I feel goodly; I feel wellly; I feel faintly; I look goodly; I look palely; I look thinly; I look healthily." No, it is natural to use adjectives, instead of adverbs, and say, "I feel sad, mad, good, well, faint; I look good, pale, thin, healthy." Therefore: I feel bad; don't feel bad about it; I look bad, etc.

Recently, on the network program

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—It took a great deal of persuading to get President Truman to call the 80th Congress back into session. He knows very well that it will mean a repetition of the game of veto and recrimination that was played out in the end of the session that closed just before the opening of the Republican convention.

What may well have been the clinching argument came from Mr. Truman's political managers. They pointed out that the Democratic tilt is practically empty. The funds are simply not forthcoming to conduct a national campaign with costly radio hookups and country-wide tours.

But with Congress in session, it was argued, the president would have a ready-made sounding board. A message by the president of the United States to Congress is front-page news even though he is a candidate for re-election.

If the president goes in person to the Congress with his message, it is normally carried by all the radio networks. Here, incidentally, is an interesting problem for the radio chains, which customarily charge commercial rates for broadcasting political speeches.

The Republicans are certain to come back in an angry mood. They will do everything they can to put the president on the spot as revenge for his boldness in calling them back.

The more rebellious are even asking whether it might not be better to refuse to come back. There is nothing to compel Congress to return. Such a refusal would create an extraordinary situation and the president could tell the country that the Republicans were afraid to face the issues.

The political hazards in a special session are real. The president can't risk a great deal because he has so little to lose. That is not true of the GOP.

The Republican candidate for president, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, will be seeking to shape a campaign by speeches and statements that appeal to a wide range of voters. But by their actions the Republican Congress can nullify his stand and make him look foolish. This is one of the chief points urged on the president by those who favored the step he took dramatically in his acceptance speech.

The Democrats will, of course, have their own troubles. Republican leaders in Congress plan immediately to push civil-rights legislation called for in the platforms of both parties.

This will precipitate a southern filibuster in the Senate. Such a filibuster was discounted in the discussions leading up to the recall of Congress. It was considered quite likely that it would last at least a month.

That interlude would even help the president's position since it would put off until the fall, when the campaign really warms up, the showdown over housing and inflation. In the dog days of August the country can ignore the marathon of southern oratory, which will gradually wear itself out. Then, as an interest in politics revives in September, the president can throw the book at the Republicans encamped unhappily on Capitol Hill.

The southern marathon is likely to defeat any civil-rights measures. That will give the GOP a chance to blame Mr. Truman's party for failure to carry out platform pledges. But clearly he cannot be made to accept responsibility on this score, since the south in convention seceded from the Democratic party of the north.

So the country is in for a long and bitter siege while the rival branches of government belabor each other, as they have so often done in the past, with every weapon in sight. It will be a strange spectacle for the allegedly most powerful nation on earth at a moment when so much is balanced on the knife-edge of destiny.

It goes without saying that the net result in legislation will be zero. As there are political hazards in this maneuver, so there are great hazards for us all regardless of party.

The fragile boundaries of the bi-partisan foreign policy have already been pushed in by what happened at the conventions and the shadow of the coming campaign. In the special session that little island of policy is certain to be further invaded by angry partisans. The Taberites will not be able to resist sniping at the European recovery program.

The session may well hold political advantages for Mr. Truman, who finds himself under such great handicaps. But measured in terms of the good of the country, this campaign maneuver may prove even more costly than the old-fashioned variety financed by lobbyists and pressure groups.

"Child's World." Broadcaster Helen Parkhurst queried a number of small children as to their feelings about death. Parkhurst: "If you saw a dead bird, would you feel badly?" Child: "Yes, I'd feel bad." Parkhurst: "Why would you feel badly?" Child: "Well, I'd just feel bad about the dead bird." Parkhurst: "But why feel badly about it?" Child: "I feel bad about anything that's dead," etc.

It apparently did not occur to Miss Parkhurst that the children she interviewed were instinctively choosing the correct and logical "feel bad," while she, herself, in feeling "badly," was setting a bad example for the children as well as for her radio audience.

It is thus that careless writers and speakers perpetuate the error.

Do you think it is wrong to say GRAD-look-ate, PIK-cher, etc.? Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-18, explains why these pronunciations are correct. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to him, care of Escanaba Daily Press, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

"Hi-Ho, Hi-Ho, It's Back to Work We Go!"

Ruark's Views

By Bob Ruark

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

New York.—It occurred to me last week in Philadelphia, as the sweat rolled in hollow breakers down my legs, that the American male is approximately as silly as the dodo. And like that benighted bird, he too will become extinct, done in by the glass of fashion and the mold of form. He will melt and merge with the asphalt, to be mourned by a band of women dressed simply in a gossamer sunback dress and a pair of abbreviated pants.

In the mountains, on the beach and in the country, the American man cavorts in a brief bellyband, exposing more meat, if possible, than his fair consort.

But loose this silly citizen on a city street, and he will assay the following articles of pore-sweating clothing: shirt, tight collar, constricting neckties, pants, socks, garters, suspenders, drawers, undershirt, coat. Why? When in the tropics you dress for the tropics, and if New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Dayton, Cincinnati and the rest aren't tropic cities in July and August, then it is cool 365 days a year on the Persian Gulf.

The better eating houses, hotels, bars and other public conveniences have always conspired to sell the suspicion that a necktieless man, even in a 98-degree heat wave, is a seedy bum, unfit to be fed or watered in the presence of ladies and gentlemen. They will hand the rush to a fellow who is attired comfortably in an open-necked sports shirt, even if he is an oasis of coolness and as handsome as Tyrone Power.

But they will feed a fat man in a wilted collar, his chins cascading perspiration onto his twisted tie, which has become jammed in the knot and is busy leaking smudgy rainbows all over his shirt front. Nothing is more horrid to the eye than a sweating character in a coat and tie, his breakfast beer oozing through his undershirt, shirt and suit-coat, his face a shiny purple, and his hair sweat-plastered to his skull. Yet he can get in where the comfortable, tieless taxpayer can't—and so can a dame who is bare half-way to the waist; and who is slipeless, stockingless, br-less and for all I know, pantsless.

There seems to be something heinous about a shirt that is not moored at the Adam's apple by a length of expensive cloth which is functional only for hanging yourself from a light fixture. I went to grab a quick bite in Philadelphia, a bit between sessions, wearing a sort of shirt-coat of Cuban make, sans cravat. It was a real smart hunk of haberdashery for that weather. But the Maitre d' wouldn't seat me until he had reached into the cloakroom and produced a shoddy brown coat of the type worn by unsuccessful waiters. That, and a tie. The coat looked like a dog had been at it, and the tie, although it had a Sulka label, was greasy-flecked. Resembling the ghost of Heywood Brown, I was then allowed to feed.

This put me off an idea of showing up at Convention Hall in shorts. Holy twirling shade of Pezu Prummel! I'd have been stoned in the streets. And for what? For being intelligent.

I looked around me, in Philly, as the thousands of males who

So They Say

To send dollars to Europe without the military necessary to defend democracy in Europe, should it be challenged by communism, is utter folly.—Dr. H. L. Donovan, president University of Kentucky.

Italy is temporarily safe from communism, but there will never be a settled peace in Europe while Asiatic imperialism and Communist domination rule over the whole of central and eastern Europe.—Winston Churchill.

A strange coalition of reactionary Republicans and equally reactionary Southern Democrats has supported every legislative attack on labor and every favor for big business.—William Green, president, AFL, assailing record of 80th Congress.

They were reducing themselves to salty puddles on the pavement. Suits, they wore. Seersucker that look like the musty wrappings on a moist mummy. Gabardines, with huge dark patches of wetness under the arms. Cotton cords, which resemble a shroud with legs in it. Miserable, greasy-faced, ill-tempered men, functioning poorly at their jobs and exuding enough water to float the Queen Mary.

A decent sports shirt and a pair of shorts would have changed their lives, but nosurre. Undignified. Sissy, maybe. Undignified? The British wear such ensembles in every hot-weather profession around the globe, and no man is more dignity-bitten than a limey who is selling empire prestige on other people's real estate. Shorts are worn by generals and kings, when the occasion demands. The toughest soldiers I ever saw—the Aussies—they wear shorts. Admiral Nimitz wore shorts.

But no the American male in a shimmering city. It is my candid opinion that we are a bunch of jerks.

New York (AP)—Elmer G. Leterman, "the give away man," has earned a fortune on one principle—the more you help others the more you help yourself.

They don't have to ask "where's Elmer?" In the insurance field, he's at the top. "I may not be the biggest salesman in the world," he says, "but I'm the best known."

And thousands of people who reached out to shake hands with him have drawn back their paw with a life insurance policy in it. In 25 years Elmer has sold some $35,000,000 worth of individual policies and $300,000,000 in group policies.

Nets $1,500,000

This has netted him $1,500,000 or more for himself. How does he do it? "Well, I never smoked, drank, bet on a horse race or played golf in my life," Elmer told me just before taking off on a trip to Hawaii. "I never even played cards until a few years ago."

"You don't have to do those things to be successful," Elmer, a short, plumpish, balding man, does it by casting his bread on the waters of friendship. "Keep on doing little things that keep people talking about you," he said. And his idea of the best way to keep yourself in the other fellow's mind is to do him a personal favor.

Leterman sends carloads or toys a year to the children of Hawaii, his adopted home. He gives away tens of thousands of match books, hundreds of fountain pens and ballpoints, dozens of radios, scores of fine leather wallets.

"I hardly ever talk business," he said. He has a real passion for meeting and helping people. Somehow the business follows, too, and often in a way Leterman can't explain.

"I got $1,000,000 in business from one man for doing him a favor I don't even remember," he said.

Elmer Likes Cops

Some years ago Leterman was one of Manhattan's favorite party throwers. He went as much as $1,000 a night for the fun of watching the celebrities he admires enjoy themselves.

Now he prefers a quieter life and gets his pleasure in giving presents. He likes cops and has given $1,000,000 in insurance policies to 100 policemen.

Elmer has sold policies to his name people like Jack Dempsey, Sam Whitford, Frank Coleman, Paul Whitman, Jack Wilkes, John Dempsey and Dandah Valentin. Dempsey took out a $200,000 policy.

Leterman also insured Thomas Wolfe for $200,000 and Thomas Dewey for $100,000. In similar publicity stunts he insured Adolphe Menjou, Mary Astor and Charles Chaplin's mother.

But the backbone of his business is smaller policies.

"I group the small man of the day," he says. "The big man of tomorrow" is a risky bet. "I don't want to be a big man of tomorrow," he says. "I want to be a small man of tomorrow."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—General MacArthur has his own special system of dealing with the Russians. One incident contrasts with the recent arrest of Marshal Sokolovsky in Berlin by American military police for speeding, and the subsequent apology to him despite the fact that he was clearly guilty of violating the law.

Meanwhile in Tokyo the top Russian general, Colonel General Galensky, was arrested by American military police outside of Tokyo for failing to have a pass. After his arrest, Galensky came storming into the office of Joseph B. Keenan, chief war crimes prosecutor, demanded an apology. Keenan took the request to MacArthur.

"Did he have a pass?" asked MacArthur. "No."

"Can you go outside Tokyo without a pass?" MacArthur asked Keenan. "Can I go outside Tokyo, can any American officer or enlisted man travel outside Tokyo without a pass?"

"Tell the colonel general," concluded MacArthur, "that he gets exactly the same treatment given to you and me. He gets no apology."

Keenan conveyed this message verbatim to Galensky at his home. The Russian colonel general listened carefully to MacArthur's words as relayed by Keenan, finally said:

"What a man! Let's have tea."

DISPLACED PERSONS

Senate Democratic leaders say that one of the first moves at the special session of Congress will be to revamp the displaced persons act. Many Republicans agree, are angry at the anti-Catholic, anti-Semitic restrictions.

The Senate accepted the bill in its present form, because it came up so late that to have fought for corrective amendments would have meant no displaced persons legislation at all.

The bill is the handiwork of West Virginia's Republican Senator Chapman Revercomb, and the methods he used to foist it upon his fellow senators are some of the most shameful in the history of the 80th Congress. Soon after he was assigned to head a judiciary subcommittee to study the problem, Revercomb bluntly told colleagues: "We could solve this DP problem all right if we could work out some bill that would keep out the Jews."

That is exactly what he did. By legalistic sleight-of-hand, he put through a bill admitting 200,000 of Hitler's victims to this country—but on Hitler's terms. Those who entered Germany after December 22, 1945, cannot be admitted. It so happens that most of the Jews, now in refugee camps, fled to Germany from the Polish pogroms—after the December 22, 1945, deadline.

Revercomb's bill also assigns 50 per cent of the displaced persons quota to the Baltic states for no valid reason, except that these states are predominantly Protestant. What's more, the bill requires that 50 per cent of those who come to this country must be farmers—in spite of petitions from employers and labor groups, asking for trained garment workers to fill the shortage in that field. Few Jews are farmers, many are garment workers.

Two months ago Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett wrote Senator Revercomb asking him to move up the eligibility date from 1945 to 1947. Revercomb kept the letter secret from his own committee until his West Virginia colleague Democratic Senator Harley Kilgore, found out about it several weeks later.

"The state department recommendation," snorted Revercomb, in reply to Kilgore's protest, "was made by the Jews. The department is full of them."

Later, while the Senate-House conferees were debating differences in the bill, U. S. Ambassador to Britain Lewis Douglas sent an urgent cable to the state department, warning that Europe regarded Revercomb's bill as grossly anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic. He requested that his views be communicated to congressional leaders.

The state department promptly got in touch with Senator Alexander Smith, New Jersey Republican, who urged Revercomb to present Ambassador Douglas' views to the Senate-House conferees. Afterward, Smith asked Revercomb whether he had done it.

"I did not," growled the West Virginia Democrat. "I didn't want to raise any racial or religious issues in the conference."

CY CHING'S NEW STRIKE

Cy Ching, former head of the U. S. Rubber company, who patriotically retired from a top job to aid his country as federal labor conciliator, has been taking a brief vacation.

To get farthest away from the labor strikes he tries so hard to settle, Ching went on a fishing trip to Nova Scotia. Even there, however, he could not escape the name of the man who causes him most trouble—John L. Lewis.

Writing to a friend in Washington, Ching said:

"My fishing guide is named 'Lewis.' Then, with a note of relief he added: 'The only time he says 'strike,' however, is when there's a fish on the line.'"

VETERANS HOUSING

Congressman Albert Thomas, Texas Democrat, who has a fine record on most matters, did his best before Congress closed to hamstringing the housing expediter's authority to investigate veterans' housing.

First he tried to block an appropriations bill, granting extra funds to the housing expediter to expand his investigating staff. When that failed, Thomas suggested that all housing functions relating to veterans should be transferred to the Veterans' Administration.

Goal Exceeded In Delta Cancer Fund

The Delta County Cancer Society fund raising campaign has exceeded its quota and the final report shows a total of $3,722.70 in contributions, according to a report by Mrs. A. M. Gilbert, county commander. The quota for Delta was $3,507.78.

Treasurer Carl Wickman said that two additional townships have made contributions. They are Bay de Noc township with $10 and Wells township with $50. Proceeds from a recent scrap paper drive, from a cancer fund benefit dance, and memorial gifts for the late Frank Karas of Escanaba brought the total contributions above the county's quota.

Why Motor Oils Get NERVOUS Breakdowns

Motor oil is busy as a one-armed paper hanger. It must COOL your engine, SEAL IN combustion, lubricate and clean—all at the same time.

But gasoline and moisture seep into the oil; dust and grit collect along with soot and metal particles, and soon convert the oil into a mayonnaise-like mixture, SLUDGE. Then the oil can't effectively do its work and parts wear out—UNSEEN!

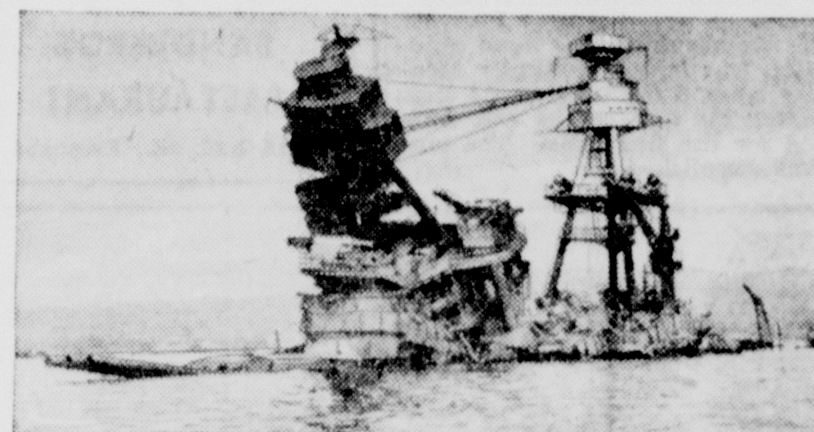

Our exclusive, patented CiscoSolvent treatment DIS-SOLVES sludge. In twenty minutes the oiling system is freed of dirty dregs—metal parts are left clean. Your engine can then get full benefit from fresh, new motor oil.

CLEAN OIL IN A CLEAN ENGINE is the most economical protection you can buy.

1. THE YEARS SINCE PEARL HARBOR have proved that the oil industry must grow—and grow rapidly—in order to meet its responsibilities to you. Today the American people use over twice as much oil as in 1935. Standard Oil and the other 34,000 producing, refining, transporting and marketing companies in the oil business work harder than ever to meet your demand.

3. FOR NEW REFINERY UNITS like the catalytic cracker above, for new oil wells, new pipe lines and many other facilities to bring you more oil, we will have spent a total of about $600,000,000 in 1946, 1947 and 1948. We had to borrow a large part of that. Every month, we add to our skilled, hard-working employee group, which numbers over 46,000 men and women.

2. IN 1947 THIS DRILLING CREW and the other employees of this company and its subsidiary companies broke their previous records for producing crude oil, for manufacturing and distributing finished products. This year we are out to bring you still more of the gasoline, lubricants, fuel oil and hundreds of other petroleum products which you and the nation need so urgently.

4. DURING THE MONTHS JUST AHEAD you may not be able to drive into a service station just any time and get all the gasoline you want. But this problem and others can and will be solved. Working together as free men and women, the American people will continue to grow, to produce, to earn for themselves more and more of the things that make life better for everyone.

Mystery Fortress Loaded With Bombs

Portuguese Hold Plane Bound For Palestine

Santa Maria, Azores, July 20. (AP)—The Flying Fortress which landed here after an unauthorized trans-Atlantic hop, is reportedly loaded with bombs. One of its passengers has admitted he is en route to Palestine. He has no passport.

The mysterious B-17 bomber which flew from Halifax to the Azores in 11 hours without a radio and with one engine cowl missing, is being held by Portuguese authorities with the agreement of the American consul in the Azores.

It was detained under an international regulation covering undocumented aircraft, when it landed at the Santa Maria airport Sunday.

The ship flew here after its pilot, Irvin R. Schindler of Miami, Fla., had told Canadian authorities he was going to Boston.

The bomber was impounded by Canadian officials last week when it landed in Halifax after a flight from an airport in Westchester county, N. Y.

(Air officials in Halifax said last night there was a good possibility the craft landed at an isolated emergency field before flying the ocean where nine extra passengers and extra cargo were taken aboard. There were 18 passengers aboard when it landed here.)

Williams Still Tops AL Hitters

Chicago, July 20 (AP)—Although sidelined last week with a side injury, Boston's Ted Williams maintained the American league leadership in batting, runs scored and two base hits. Cleveland's Lou Boudreau, however, captured one specialized lead from the idle Williams—going ahead in hits with 106. The beantown slugger has 102.

Boudreau also took advantage of Williams' idleness to make a four point gain in the batting race. The Indians' shortstop-manager upped his bat mark to .359—29 points behind Williams' leading .388 clip.

Lone Sentry Guards Grave Of Pershing

Over 300,000 Brave Rain For Funeral Cortege

BY ELTON C. FAY
Washington, July 20 (AP)—A sentry kept lonely vigil today over the Arlington grave of General of the Armies John J. Pershing.

Until sundown Thursday night a single guard will watch the spot where the 87-year old leader of American forces in France in World War I was buried yesterday.

By custom, a guard is maintained for 72 hours over the graves of famous men buried in the National cemetery. For the next 30 days, flags will fly at half-staff at all army posts.

The stirring tribute that the military gave the General was matched by the unplanned, spontaneous farewell from the public. More than 300,000 men, women and children stood through a beating Washington rainstorm to see the long cortege and the casket with its flag-draped casket roll by.

Upwards of 3,500 soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen marched the four-mile route from the capitol to Arlington—and marching with them were a dozen generals.

Auto Rackets Case Closed As Skillman Runs For Governor

Detroit, July 20 (AP)—Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman's auto rackets grand jury closed its books today.

The judge, planning to run for the Republican nomination for governor, wound up his investigation on the eve of the deadline for filing nominating petitions. He indicated he would take a vacation from the bench to campaign for the state office.

Before officially closing his probe of new and used car sales, he urged consideration "of the possibilities of continuing the work of this grand jury before another judge at some time in the future."

He also suggested the work of his grand jury "should have been entirely unnecessary" and could be considered the result of the state's "lack of enforcement" of the sales tax and motor vehicle title acts.

Judge Skillman reported nearly a thousand witnesses had given testimony since he began the probe. The grand jury's entire cost was about $11,000, he added.

Conference May Head Off Strike At Ford Plants

Ken Bannon, UAW National Ford director.

Strike action was approved over the weekend by the union's rank-and-file members who, UAW officials said, were 90 per cent in favor. The membership vote was made valid by the executive board's authorization.

Bannon said he would await outcome of today negotiations before setting a strike deadline for 46 Ford plants across the nation.

However, on the eve of the meeting, the union gave no indication it would lower its latest demand of a 14-cent wage boost plus social security clauses that would raise the total to about 21 cents an hour.

Ford's last proposal, termed a "final offer," included a 13-cent increase and other concessions. The current average production wage is estimated at about $1.52 an hour.

Behind the scenes remained the possibility of federal intervention. Mediators have been ready to step in for days, but Ford has asked that they not intervene "for the present."

Escanaba was awarded the 1949 Upper Peninsula American Legion convention and Cliff Vadnais, of Escanaba, was elected Upper Peninsula Legion commander at the annual U. P. convention in Ishpeming last weekend. It was announced here this morning by C. Elmer Olson, adjutant of the Escanaba post.

Social Situations

SITUATION: In making a purchase, a friend of yours is torn between two choices.

WRONG WAY: After she has made her selection you say: "I'm so glad you bought the one you did. I was scared to death you were going to buy the other and I thought it was awful."

RIGHT WAY: Say only that you think she made a wise choice. If you tell her how awful you thought the other item was you are reflecting on her taste, since she obviously liked it.

Farmer With Crop 'Master Cell' Calls For Police Guard

Middleboro, Massachusetts (AP)—The Gendarmes went to the rescue of farmer John Brown and his "master cells" Sunday. Brown recently claimed that he discovered a master cell which produced phenomenal crops and proved effective in combating poultry and cattle diseases.

More than 1,000 persons—many seeking samples of the "Master Cell" in hopes it would relieve their ailments—overran Brown's farm and endangered his crops.

He called police who roped off a 300-foot space near the farmhouse and barred everyone but farmers.

Brown, a 61-year-old retired pharmacist, said he intends to limit the use of the "Master Cell" to farmers so they can produce bumper, healthy crops.

He explained that a colloidal solution containing "Master Cells" is contained in a porous cement matrix. These matrices are placed in wells or in the soil, he said, to pass into the metabolism of poultry, animals or plant life.

ROTE SPEAKEREdward LaMotte Tells About His Industry

Milady's coiffure, the coming season, calls for a soft wave, round neck and a shorter hair trim—tight woven ringlets will be passe. This was the fashion tip given by Edward LaMotte, director of education of the National Association of Cosmetology, in a talk before the Manistique Rotary club at Blaney Park Monday evening. Rotary Anns were guests for the evening, and this particular fashion hint was given for their benefit.

Mr. LaMotte stated also, while on the subject of fashion, that ladies' dresses will be longer and furs will not figure extensively in wearing apparel this coming fall and winter. Fur coats, however, will be popular winter wear for men.

The speaker's theme had most to do with an explanation of cosmetology and the broad field it covers. It has come to be the sixth largest industry in the United States, he said, and, being chiefly a matter of having to do with personal grooming and personal appearance, it is closely allied with many other industries having similar purposes—plastic surgery, for instance.

This industry, along with clothes designing, as far as women are concerned, has for one of its chief objectives—that which will be pleasing to the men. For that reason, hair designers and garment designers are, for the most part, men. And with a reverse English on the subject, most designers of men's clothing are women.

The National Association of Cosmetology, he said, has for its chief objective, the establishment of American designers as the source of American styles. Americans are just as capable in this respect as Parisians, he said. This he added, would work for finer things at less cost.

Incidentally, in the course of his remarks, he stated that people of smaller communities were better dressed and more style-conscious than people of large metropolitan areas, including New York City.

Mr. LaMotte, who resides in New York City, was born and raised in Garden, and is spending his vacation there.

Books On Big Spring Are Now
In Big Demand

John I. Bellaire is a firm believer on the philosophy that if one keeps a thing long enough, it will become valuable again.

Two books, written and published by Mr. Bellaire and Johan G. B. Baner, of Ironwood, dealing with myths and legends about Kitch-iti-kipi, have come back into big demand. Out to the Big Spring one day this week, the sale of the books was brisk and when he was pointed out as the author, he was swamped with requests for autographed copies.

People who have become acclimated to this region fail to see anything very mystic or poetic about the Big Spring, says Mr. Bellaire, but people who come to this so different land and see this wonder of nature for the first time, find inspiration in the legends, mystery in the deep and chilly water and enchantment in the Chippewa names used with such frequency.

It might be "old stuff" to a lot of Manistique people, but its most impressive experience to the thousands of people who view the Big Spring for the first time, says Mr. Bellaire, and those books are a big factor in spreading the enchantment of the North Country. The books are titled "Kitch-iti-kipi" and "Medicine Water."

CHILDREN TO GO TO CIRCUSLocal Shriners To Be Hosts At Big Event

Schoolcraft county boys and girls, between the ages of nine and twelve, are in for a glorious adventure this coming Saturday.

All children in those age groups who register at the First National Bank between now and that time, will have the privilege of attending the Shrine Circus at Marquette on Saturday afternoon.

Transportation will be provided and there will be no admission charge. And the Shrine Circus, be it known, is one of the best circuses in America, featuring top notch circus performers, elephants, lions, tigers, seals, dogs and ponies. It seldom shows in cities of less than 100,000 population and when it shows in those towns, it rightfully is proclaimed the headline attraction while there.

This, no doubt, sounds so good that many people may be inclined to ask "What's the catch?" The answer is that there isn't any catch at all.

Shriners in Manistique and Schoolcraft county are playing host to the children of this vicinity for Saturday afternoon's performance. They have chartered buses to take the children to Marquette and back and are also providing chaperones to go along so that parents may rest assured that they are being well looked after while they are away. The only catch—if such it may be called—is the requirement that each boy or girl who applies, must have the written consent of his parents or guardian.

The circus at Marquette which will be on for several days this week, is under the sponsorship of Ahmed Mystic Shrine of that city, with which most local Shriners are affiliated.

Receipts from ticket sales to the circus will go toward the financing of Shriner hospitals for crippled children—institutions which treat the children without charge. According to Dr. George Shaw, who is chairman of the circus party from here, there are 19 Shrine hospitals of this sort. Fifteen of these hospitals are in this country, one in Hawaii, two in Canada and one in Mexico.

Blueberry Crop
Here Somewhat
Under Average

The first blueberries of the season have arrived on the market. As is usually the case with berries at the outset of the season, the berries are small and of inferior quality. Many spots that heretofore were heavy producers are found to be barren this year.

This however, is not regarded as a discouraging sign by those who buy up the crop for the market. They declare that while the crop will be slightly under average because of frost conditions at blossoming time and dry weather since then, it will be much better than last year and if favored by rain this coming week, should come fairly close to the average.

At least ninety per cent of the crop is still in the green stage. Blackberry prospects appear good.

REV. J. WARD
ROTE SPEAKER
Tells What He Thinks
Makes America Great

"What Makes America Great" was the topic of an interesting discourse given by the Rev. James G. Ward, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Escanaba before the Rotary club here Monday noon.

While production of one-fourth of the world's food supply, manufacture of 90 per cent of the world's goods and possession of one third of the world's wealth admittedly makes us a great nation, they are not the most important factors, the speaker declared.

Prime factor is our democratic form of government, Christian democracy, the speaker called it, which has resulted in a way of thinking which impelled us to assist the war-wracked nations of Europe.

He assailed Communism and urged that we continue to assist needy nations and be a Big Brother to the majority of nations of the world who look to us today for leadership.

GOLF CLUB TO HEAR HUMORISTSpecial Dinner Meeting
Set For Wednesday

Arthur (Art) F. Briese, Hot Springs, Arkansas, nationally known humorist, writer and after-dinner speaker, will be heard at a special golf party which is to be held at the clubhouse Wednesday evening. The dinner will be at 7 o'clock and reservations should be made with the Chamber of Commerce, Phone 92611.

The party is open to non-members and club officers are urging as many as possible to take advantage of the opportunity to hear Briese. It is a fortunate circumstance which allows the club to obtain. He is currently vacationing in Delta county and has been playing the local golf course and members, learning his identity prevailed upon him to give here one of his piquant, stimulating talks which have been taking the nation's convention groups by storm.

"Humor is the button on the pants of life to which we fasten our civic suspenders; what a sorry spectacle we make of ourselves when we lose that button." So said Briese in a recent Memphis, Tennessee press interview.

When reporters asked him just what it is that makes people laugh, and how his brand of humor differs from that of the Marx Brothers or the late Will Rogers, Briese replied: "The Marx Brothers blow up huge bubbles of ridiculousness that burst of their own weight; Rogers pricked the tiny little bubbles of human vanities with a sharp-pointed needle of satire." Pressed for a statement as to his own methods, the humorist smiled wryly, with "O, I use an axe and will chop 'em fall where they may."

Affectionately known from coast to coast as "America's Knight of Satire," Mr. Briese is in constant demand among large Trade Association conventions nationally.

Birds Eye Settles Softball Issue; Green Mill Wins

Well, they've settled the softball issue at the Birds Eye—at least for the time being!

At the firm picnic, the Green Mill aggregation stopped the Red Mill group, 9-8. The report received by the Escanaba Press sports editor on a piece of veneer has it that the personnel of the winning team consisted of the following: Horn Nelson, catcher; Pickler Gauthier, pitcher; Abe Milski, firebase; Kingfish Feber, secondbase; Curley Snerd Morton, thirdbase; Flash Meyers, shortstop; Lawnmower Joe St. A., rightfield; Gaspipe Gasman, leftfield; Peekynose Myers, centerfield; Buzz saw Leguia, bat boy; Oilcan McNellius, manager. The losing pitcher was Blurry-eye Glasure and his backstopper was Yardbird Lindstrom.

Baseball Stars Of Yesterday

Batting—Bobby Doerr, Red Sox—slammed a home run with the bases full to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 4-1 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Pitching—Fritz Ostermueller, Pirates—scattered seven hits in pitching the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 1-0 shutout victory over Johnny Sain and the Boston Braves.

TIES HOMER RECORD—Pat Seerey, Chicago White Sox leftfielder, crosses the plate in the fifth inning of his historic game in Philadelphia, during which he hit four homers, an all-time record tie. Champion batter had hit two over the left field fence before this four-sacker and another in the 11th inning with two outs.

Brundage To Quit U. S. Olympic Post After This Season

Aboard the S. S. America, July 20 (P)—Avery Brundage, a storm center of amateur sports for years, says this is the last time he will lead United States forces into the Olympic games.

The man who has guided U. S. Olympic affairs for nearly 20 years and ridden out numerous controversies made the announcement last night as the bulk of America's 1948 team neared English port.

Brundage has held the Olympic post since 1929. He was elevated after the 1928 games at Amsterdam at which Gen Douglas MacArthur was the chief. He has been reelected at every succeeding quadrennial meeting. The next is in 1950.

"They call me a dictator," he said today. "Everytime I have been elected it was unanimously and I have been upheld unanimously in every matter except going to Berlin."

Brundage led a bitter fight to send the American team to Berlin in 1936 and won it. His foes argued Hitler was using the games for propaganda purposes.

Another famous controversy arose in connection with those games. Brundage threw Eleanor Holm off the team while enroute to Berlin as an aftermath of the so-called champagne incident.

The ship is due to arrive in Southampton late today but the Americans will not disembark until Wednesday morning. The games begin July 29.

Sports Editor
Escanaba Daily Press:

A bit of post mortem concerning the ball game played in Chatham Sunday, the 11th, between Chatham and Trenary teams and the incident that took place during the ninth inning. This incident came out in the shape of a protest by the Chatham umpire concerning the eligibility of Trotter, Trenary player, because of his semi-pro record of the past.

Asked if Trotter's former status would have made any difference had Chatham won, the answer was in the negative, an emphatic "No!" Since Trotter's former past status was known to the Chatham team, any protest in this respect should have, by all means, been made before the game was started.

However, the point, rather a strange one to say the least, is that had Chatham won, there would have been no protest. Baseball fans, was this by any means good sportsmanship?

Go Ahead, Rain! Say Tiges After Yanks Take Lead

New York, July 20 (P)—Thankful that three New York runs yesterday turned out to be wasted effort, the Detroit Tigers hoped today to do a better job of curbing Yankee bats.

The Yanks had scored three times off Paul Terrer before he could get the team out in the first inning. But sudden showers cut the game short, so the tallies did not count.

Detroit Manager Steve O'Neill sent Art Houtteman against the New Yorkers today. Houtteman, still looking for his third victory, has dropped 12 decisions.

New York's pitcher was Allie Reynolds, who has a record of ten wins and four defeats.
